

e nice this year...?

● Where do I sleep? Accommodation is in a hotel in Llangollen, but you can camp if you want.

● How much, and what's included? £100 per vehicle for two days' greenlaning – food and accommodation are not included.

● Anything else to do? Plenty of touristy stuff in the area, from the Centre for Alternative Technology in Machynlleth to the splendour of Snowdonia. But you'll be behind the wheel for most of the weekend.

● Who do I call? LRO Adventure Club, Pro-Trax, Cromwell House, 2 Debdale, Stoke Albany, Leicestershire LE16 9NX. Tel: 01858 535552. www.lroac.com

WESSEX AND COTSWOLDS

● Where is it? Wiltshire and Gloucestershire, two of England's prettiest counties, stuffed with really famous English things, such as Stonehenge, chocolate-box villages, rolling countryside and a laid-back, relaxed feeling.

● Who organises it? Living Planet Travel, a company that promotes ecological holidays. They do lots of historical tours, chauffeur-driven excursions and walking holidays.

● What's the holiday? More of a gentle excursion into the countryside than a holiday, really. Living Planet offers one- and two-day trips around some of England's most historic sites (Stonehenge, Avebury, Glastonbury and others). Travelling by Land Rover, you get a guided tour of the area, and there's some gentle off-roading as well. It would make a great family day out.

● What are the Land Rovers? Living Planet runs a 110 Defender Tdi.

● Do I get to drive? No – this is a guided tour.

● Where do I sleep? If you want to make a weekend of it, there's no shortage of hotels and B&Bs in the area.

● How much, and what's included? £50 per adult (£25 per child) for a one-day safari.

● Who do I call? Living Planet, 48 King George's Field, Stow-on-the-Wold, Gloucestershire GL54 1AS. Tel: 01451 832422. www.livingplanet.co.uk

TRANS-AMERICAN TREK

● Where is it? The good ol' US of A, the whole damn thing. From top to bottom, coast to coast, the Trek covers America's enormous range of geographical extremes.

● Who organises it? Border to Border (B2B), a non-profit-making company that's been running these marathon treks for five consecutive years.

● What's the holiday? Crossing America, in a Land Rover. Last year's went south/north from San Diego to Canada. It's all about camaraderie, comradeship and getting Land Rover people together for a mammoth adventure. Check out the website forum for an impression of how involved people get with this thing.

● What are the Land Rovers? Yours, so this would be best suited to residents of the USA. But if you're feeling flush, you could always hire one for the whole trip.

● Do I get to drive? Yep – it's your vehicle out there.

● Where do I sleep? Hotels, campsites – whatever's available en-route. And, this being America, that's most things.

● How much, and what's included? Prices haven't yet been finalised for 2003, but last year's trip cost $200 (about £130) for those who registered early, rising to $300 (about £200) for late applications. Includes society membership, sponsor discounts, vehicle stickers and the inevitable T-shirts.

● Who do I call? Border To Border Vehicle Adventures, PO Box 340, Bolton, Ontario L7E 5T3, Canada. Tel: (001) 905 951 7712. www.bordertoborder.com
